ABOUT THE JOHN MILTON SOCIETY

The John Milton Society for the Blind is a worldwide, inter-denominational ministry in Christian literature and education. Founded in 1932, the Society is named for the English Christian poet (1608-1674) who championed freedom of the press and wrote numerous articles in its defense. John Milton lost his sight around the age of 40. His great epic poem, Paradise Lost, reflects the inner soul's "Celestial Light" to "see and tell of things invisible to mortal sight."

The John Milton Society administers a scholarship and grant program for blind persons and for people whose vocation is to work with blind persons.

The Society also publishes materials in Braille, large print and on cassette. All materials are free.

ABOUT THE HANDBOOK

The JMS Directory of Resources is a reference handbook for church and secular publications in Braille, on cassette, in large print and on record. Included in the categories are Bibles and hymnals; books and magazines; information on translation and transcription services for textbooks, music, technical materials, and English and French Braille; the embossing of business cards in Braille; how to send a telegram in Braille and large print; the names of organizations operating camps for children and adults who are blind and visually impaired; where to recycle brailled materials; and where to find community outreach programs.

Under the Library of Congress/Regional Libraries heading are the fifty-six National Library Service state libraries which function as circulating centers for publications in Braille, large print, cassettes and records. Materials are mailed to the reader and returned postage-free. Through the National Library Service, free cassette players (15/16 ips) and record players (8 1/3 rpm) are available on extended loan to eligible readers.

For ease of use, the handbook is color-coded.

- Yellow is the alphabetical listing of ORGANIZATIONS.
- Blue is the cross-reference INDEX featuring categories and their corresponding organization/s.
- White, RESOURCES, is the main section where materials and organizations are listed together alphabetically by organization name.

OVERSEAS (color-coded by country), provides names and addresses of organizations for the blind and visually impaired overseas. For further information of materials and the cost in U.S. currency, write to the organization concerned.

To maintain a current handbook, the John Milton Society appreciates receiving updated information on additions, deletions and changes in cost of materials. Organizations wishing to be included in the directory should send details to the attention of the editor.

The handbook is set in Microsoft Word Version 4.0, Times Bold, 14 point type. The paper is recycled.

Books and magazines are available for the visually impaired and physically handicapped individuals through the National Library Service of the Library of Congress. Eligibility for this program requires that:

- 1) You are legally blind — your vision in the better eye is 20/200 or less with correcting glasses, or your widest diameter of visual field is no greater than 20 degrees;
- 2) You cannot see well enough to focus long enough to read standard print, although you wear glasses to correct your vision;
- 3) You are unable to handle print books or to turn pages because of a physical disability;
- 4) You are certified by a medical doctor as having a reading disability due to an organic dysfunction, which is of sufficient severity to prevent reading in a normal manner.

Special equipment needed to play the discs and cassettes, which are recorded at slower than conventional speeds, is loaned indefinitely to readers. Headphones are provided on request. An amplifier is available for readers who are also certified as hearing impaired.

Through a national network of state and local libraries (National Library Service), materials are loaned free to eligible readers in the United States and to U.S. citizens living abroad. Materials are sent to readers and returned by postage-free mail. Categories include: best-sellers, classics, mysteries, music, westerns, poetry, history, biographies, religious literature, children's books and foreign-language materials.

An application together with the name of the library that serves your area, is available from the address listed above. (See also the address of your local library under heading of Library of Congress in this Directory.)
